Kdesign announces a strategic partnership with company TSM

Kdesign GmbH, the specialist for gauge control, film cooling and guiding systems are very pleased to announce our strategic partnership with company TSM from Ireland.

The company TSM is well known for gravimetric blending and dosing equipment in the market of Blown film. This equipment fits excellent to our portfolio of cooling rings, gauge control, and IBC/Width control equipment and we can offer now an integrated system of the complete control package for blown film lines.

We have already started successfully our partnership in the Asian market and displayed our products together on the last TAPEI Plast in September 2014.

For the North American market we will exhibit our products and the combined package on the next NPE trade show in Orlando, Florida from 23rd to the 27th of March 2015 at West Hall Level 2 Booth W4649.
